

Saint Life

A man has born into a small family where the family is in total debt. Though the child was born in a poor family he is rich by his intelligence and behavior. He is born as an intellect, and he is always in a happy mood. He maintains a smile on his face with glow which has emerged from his intelligence. He has all the intelligence in the world. While growing he is more fascinated towards the bedtime stories that are told to him by his parents. When the others just listened to the story he focused on the intent of the characters and their behavior. He soon realized that stories with good intent have the knowledge of how to be a person in his life. By the age of 10 he grasped all the knowledge that is required to live a peaceful life. So, he dedicated his life to the god and became a saint. Though he became a saint he was more attracted towards the stories.

The saint started meditating and continued for 25 years with bare food and water. He used to eat and drink to keep him alive. With this meditation he gained all the strength and power. Now he can do anything which may not be possible to normal human beings. But he never used those powers. Knowing about this extraordinary saint people started visiting him and asking him all their doubts. Some briefed their problems and asked for solution. But the saint remained silent thinking that answering their questions directly will make them lazy and also affect their minds to always seek help from others. So, he thought for a while and decided to answer only few questions everyday out of all. He used a rare and his loved technique to answer the questions. He was so powerful that he could realize the persons question even before they tell him. So, when a person reaches him for help, he used to listen to them and tell them a story which had the answer they required. The intellectuals grabbed the answer, implemented it and succeeded whereas the people who sacrificed their thinking ability quoted the saint as a stupid and fake person.

One fine day after many years two people reached the saint seeking for answers. The two people have a lot of questions in mind and have the keen interest to know the proper answers. The two people were a boy and a girl. Both were around same age group of 20 to 24. The saint saw both the persons and realized that they are having a lot of questions. He called one of his disciples and told him to greet the two people with respect and provide them accommodation. But the people insisted to talk to saint to know the answers that they are thriving from a long time. They had a belief that only the saint can answer their questions and doubts. Seeing their keen interest the saint laid a condition for both of them that they need to be in their monastery and serve for some days. They agreed for his terms and the saint also mentioned that he will be narrating some stories to the disciples of his monastery every day where both the people must stay and listen to the stories leaving all their work. Both the boy and girl decided to stay and to not forget their doubts they used to maintain a notes of their questions.

Noticing the monks' interest in the boy and girl the disciples asked the monk to tell them about the newcomers. The monk asked the boy and girl to take some rest and after them depart the monk started talking about the boy and girl.

“The boy is named as Vuvitsu and the girl is named as Maya.

Vuvitsu is born into a high-class family and had all the luxuries, and he know he is running his own company.

Maya is born into a middle-class family and now she is working in a MNC. She was a pampered child in her home so take care of her.”

Listening to this the disciples are shocked thinking that what could be these guys problems. To relieve from this tension, they asked the monk “What could these guys not have? What are their problems? One is born in luxury and other is brought up in luxury by pampering. What type of doubts could these people have. Is it related to their wealth?

Are they facing any work problem?

Does any of their family have any problem?

What are their doubts? Why are you more interested in them and why are you giving them special care?”

The monk smiled and said “The questions and doubts of both the people are so great that every human will be facing this doubt at one time or the other in their life. They are not here for their money or health. They are here for the knowledge through which they can understand the importance of life. Their questions are so good that listening to those questions itself will make you stumble for a minute.

I will answer all their questions so you people need not worry they will be asking for sure, and I will be answering for sure So don’t think much about it. Go and have a deep sleep we will talk tomorrow.”

The disciples obeyed the monk orders and took rest for the day.
