

Beauty's Trap, Wisdom's Triumph

Women are the only persons who have the ability to create and destroy a person, an empire, a country or even the total world. Let me narrate a short story on the enigma of women possess. Once upon a time there lived a man named Michael with righteousness and the empire, he beholds was one of the top unbeatable empires that ever built. His courage and his braveness shocked the entire kingdom and the fellow warriors. He beholds all the great things respect towards others, kindness, cruelty for the criminals. All he never had was a person close one towards his heart. Though there were numerous women who were ready to become his wife, but the king refused all of them. He left the country on a fine evening in search of his love. After reaching the shores of Ganges River he was stunned with the presence of beauty that he never saw in his life. He was dragged towards the beauty. He was spellbinding when he reached near the beauty. The beauty he was attracted was a woman who was near the shore admiring the sunset and playing with the sand particles nearby. The view Michael had cannot be explained in any words. He is watching every detail and holding it in his heart. The shine from the anklets due to the sunrays are reflecting on her legs and making it look like gold. The wet sand near the shore got attached to her feet and shining like diamonds. The small toes she had was so mesmerizing that even the fishes near the shore are jumping over and over to know how the pearls ended at the shore. The cloth that she draped around her body is so bright that even the moon is asking the sun to shine on her to confirm that there is no other moon. The waves in the Ganges were awestruck seeing the curves on her hips and body. The clouds in the sky disappeared looking at her thighs. The birds flying towards their home in the sky in group stumbled their flapping wings by seeing the shoulders of the beauty. The gold ornament on her neck lost its pride that it gives the beauty to a woman but now the ornament lost the beauty in front of her neck. Looking at her dark long hair the peacocks turned their feathers from train to fan to showcase that they have equal length of her hair. Seeing her lips, the fire nearby shocked to see the essence and color of its own on her lips. Her eyes were splashing the rays that even the sun felt red-faced thinking that there is a person who is shining more than him. Michael started walking towards the girl and every step he is taking is increasing the heartbeat. When he approached her, he was stunned and couldn't find words to speak. He kept staring at her and after a while the girl saw Michael and felt somewhat shy as he kept on staring. Michael took his total strength and the first words towards her fell from the mouth with an uttering sound "hello". She ignored the greeting and she left to her home. Michael followed her but was distracted due to sudden attack on him. He easily defeated the ambush and started searching for her but couldn't find her. He was so disappointed that he didn't even know her name to search.

Next day after Michael started his journey for the girl, he found her near a lake. He decided that he would not let her slip from her this time. He approached the girl and asked her name in a polite manner. Seeing by the appearance of Michael the girl understood that he is a king and replied to him a well-respected manner "My name is Katyayini". Michael was once again stunned by her beauty but controlled his raging emotions and asked the details about her of what she do and where does she stay. The girl disclosed her details and asked Michael about his introduction. Michael said his name and told her in a direct way that he wanted to marry her. But Katyayini rejected the proposal saying that she is not fit for her and left the place within a span so that Michael couldn't catch her. Michael had a strong feeling that she was into him but there is something holding her behind. Michael commanded the subordinates to dig deeper into her family and let him know what the problem is. The soldiers did their job and informed Michael that she is like a ghost as no details were found about her. Listening to this Michael shocked and gone mad about her. He went to search for her and found her in the forest where she is gathering fruits. He went straight to her and asked what the problem is in marrying him. She politely answered that there are some conditions to marry her, and she implied that Michael couldn't fulfill those conditions. Michael gave his word that all her conditions will be fulfilled even before listening to her conditions. Katyayini insisted that he should listen to the conditions but Michael who is brainwashed in her beauty ignored her suggestion and planned for a wedding with her. Michael married her and spent a week with her in his house. He never left the house for that week and never attended any royal meetings. During this time Katyayini was so impressed with Michael and started loving her more. When Michael realized that it is about time that he should attend his duties Katyayini stated her condition which Michael agreed to. Her first condition was that under any circumstances he should not rule nor attend any royal court meetings for 6 months in a year. During those six months he should only stay with her, and this rule continues until she becomes pregnant. Michael who was blinded in her love agreed to those terms and left the country for six months. This gave the rival countries an opportunity to take over Michael kingdom. The rival countries started waging wars and looted for six months. Later when Michael returned, he used to wage a war against them and regain the treasure that was looted. This continued for 2 years but Michael was so blinded in Katyayini that he couldn't see the losses of his people.

During this time many ministers tried to convince Michael, but Michael refused all their opinions. At this moment Ellen the daughter of higher minister understood the intentions of Katyayini and took a bold decision that she would rule for the six months when Michael would spend the time with Katyayini. Michael agreed to her decision as she was the only person who respected his decision. Ellen used to love Michael with whole heart but couldn't confess to him as he is not interested in her. Ellen took all the classes along with Michael and she is not less in any format when compared to Michael. She is even good at warfare. When the rival countries tried to wage war again Ellen fought with them and defeated with her skills. This stopped a war, but the inner war was not in the hands of Ellen. The people were not happy with Ellen being the ruler as they all loved Michael and hoped that he would return. After six months Katyayini was total into Michael and one fine day there was a attack on Michael and Katyayini which was easily defeated by Michael but he was injured. This incident rattled Kathyayini's emotions and she confessed her intentions. Listening to her intentions Michael couldn't believe her words. She said that she intentionally trapped him as she was ordered by the rival countries so that they could take over his country. She also confessed that she is sterile, and her previous profession was a prostitute. Listening to her words Michael got so angry that he took his sword and was about to strike on her, but his hands shivered when he looked into her eyes. She informed that she disclosed this information as she loved him but couldn't bear any harm towards him. Michael dropped his sword and told her never to return his kingdom nor see him in future. After returning to his kingdom, he confessed all the details to his ministers and apologized to them. The ministers were shocked listening to Michael for two reasons. The head minister replied to Michael that there is no need for apology, but he asked Michael how there could be an ambush on him as Ellen defeated all the rivals. At this moment Ellen stepped forward and replied that this ambush was her plan so that Katyayini will expose her intentions. Michael and ministers applauded her work and thanked her for saving the kingdom during hard time. Later Michael announced to the people that he and Ellen would get married and take care of the kingdom. But in person when they met Michael clearly stated that he couldn't love her as he did Katyayini, but he is marrying her for only the continuation of their heritage but not for love. Ellen agreed to him, but she felt happy that at least he would be at her side whom she loved from childhood.

All creatures in the world are created by the women and ended either in the hands or for women.
